Dear Simplex Hiring Team,

As a full stack engineer, my passion is for developing visually appealing and naturally intuitive user interfaces while managing large data on the backend. This passion, paired with my collaboration skills, makes me a valuable asset to any team. After reviewing Simplex's company website, I believe that your corporate ideals and goals match my personal values and aspirations. I am passionate about software development with an expertise on modern front-end frameworks such as React, with additional knowledge and experience on building out the back end and database management.

My most recent application was a data-heavy travel site that produced visually appealing daily itineraries for travelers to all international destinations. I focused on implementing a vertical timeline that used Javascript, HTML, CSS, React, and Bootstrap. One of the toughest challenges the team faced during development was obtaining the pertinent information desired by the client. As a team, we compromised on our visions and concluded on a single format for data based on what was returned from the API. This harmonious conclusion led the team to push limits on front end design converting complicated wireframes into a reality. In the end, the client was speechless with the end result and impressed by the product delivered in such a short amount of time.

The Front End Engineer opportunity with Simplex excites me because I can combine my creativity, software engineering expertise, and team-oriented skills on a daily basis to produce live results. I thrive in a fast-paced, dynamic work environment and enjoy working with a creative team focused on revolutionizing an industry. I am a quick learner and look forward to being challenged regularly as I learn new skills and overcome obstacles. Thank you for your time and consideration, I look forward to hearing from you.
